

More came to play and frolic, round and round they did go they moved as one together till a brilliant light began to glow.