

They played beneath the bluest skies, and talked about wondrous things. They swam beneath the warm sunlight, and dreamed about having wings.